LEB 320F: Foundations of Business Law and Ethics

Course Format: Online, Self-Paced

Course Instructor: Dean Bredeson, J.D. Contact using the Inbox tool in Canvas.

Course Credits: 3

Prerequisites: Forty-five semester hours of college coursework.

How This Course Works
This course is online and is self-paced. Students have five months from their date of enrollment to complete the course. All coursework and proctored exams are submitted or taken online.

While this course is self-paced in terms of when you complete the work and submit assignments, periodic assessments are critical to ensuring that students receive adequate support and are able to achieve the intended learning outcomes. Thus, this course is organized into modules that must be completed in order. Students will only be able to move forward once they have received a grade on all assessments within a given module.

Review the course outline and assignment descriptions carefully. Computer-graded assignments are scored immediately. You can expect to receive feedback on instructor-graded assignments or exams within three business days following submission. This does not include weekends or holidays. Requests for expedited grading are not accommodated, so please plan accordingly. During certain times (end of semester, spring break, etc.), instructors may experience higher-than-usual demands on their time and may need additional time for evaluation. Students should reach out to University Extension at uex@austin.utexas.edu with any concerns regarding grading turnaround.

University Extension strongly advises students to be aware of when they may need a course grade to be recorded on their transcript. It can take up to two weeks after the final exam is complete for a grade to be officially recorded with the Office of the Registrar.

Course Overview
Most large and successful American companies are sued occasionally. But all else being equal, well-run operations tend to face lawsuits far less frequently. Every firm is better off when more executives, managers, and employees can spot potential legal problems and act to make lawsuits less likely. By the time someone “calls the lawyers,” it is often too late. This course will acquaint you with a range of legal issues that commonly impact businesses, thereby making you a better businessperson. Beyond law lies the realm of ethics. Everyone faces situations throughout their careers and lives in which the law does not require or prohibit any particular action. This course will help you identify and navigate ethical dilemmas and appreciate the ethical responsibilities that companies owe to various stakeholder groups.
Course Outcomes
Upon successful completion of this course, each student will be able to:

- Describe the different legal processes and procedures that enable, constrain, and shape business activity.
- Explain the substantive legal doctrines that enable, constrain, and shape business activity.
- Apply rules governing legal processes and procedures as well as substantive legal doctrines to unfamiliar factual situations in order to reach a defensible conclusion as to how a particular scenario might be resolved.
- Analyze the legal implications of various strategic business decisions that a firm might select.
- Analyze ethical dilemmas and apply decision models to create solutions when the law does not require or prohibit any particular outcome.

Required Materials
Business Law and Ethics (Online Custom Edition) by Allison/Prentice/Bredeson. This book is purchased within the course and accessed online. Do not purchase a hard copy version of the “regular” Allison/Prentice text as it is substantially different.

Course Organization
For each of the nine units in the course, you will find an introduction and learning objectives. These are intended to provide you with an introduction to the big picture ideas. Study these notes before tackling the assigned readings. The concepts are presented in the same order they appear in your online textbook. You will be tested on most all of these ideas on the quizzes, and again on the final exam.

Quizzes (Computer-Graded Assignments)
The quizzes each contain 15 multiple choice questions and have a 30 minute time limit. They are completed online. The quizzes are open notes, but you may not consult with another person or with internet sources. They constitute 50% of your course grade.

Final Exam
The comprehensive final exam contains 50 multiple choice questions and has a 2 hour time limit. The exam is closed book and closed notes. The exam constitutes 50% of your course grade. Also:

You must pass the final exam to pass the course.
